MOODY

9.9.9.9. with Refrain

The musical score is written for a single melodic line on a guitar, using a treble clef and a 3/4 time signature. It consists of five staves of music. The first two staves contain the main melody. The third staff is labeled 'Refrain' and contains a shorter melodic phrase. The fourth and fifth staves continue the main melody. The notation includes various chords, single notes, and rests, with some notes beamed together. The piece concludes with a double bar line at the end of the fifth staff.
